INFORMATION

A country where a hunter's dreams come true ...

Romania is located between Central and Southeastern Europe, bordering the Black Sea. In Western direction, it expands across the Carpathian arc to the Pannonian plain. Its neighboring countries are Bulgaria, Serbia, Hungary, Ukraine and Moldavia. The state of Romania as we know it today is the result of the unification of the Principalities of Moldavia and Wallachia in 1859. In 2007, Romania became part of the European Union which has made travelling much easier for us hunters. With its population of approx. 20.1 million and a land surface of 238,391 km<sup>2</sup>, Romania is Europe's ninth-largest country by surface area. Its 1.9 million citizens make the nation's capital Bucharest the sixth-largest city of the EU.

DRIVEN HUNT NEARBY ARAD

In cooperation with our local partner, we are organizing a 3-day driven hunt in the foothills of the Carpathian Mountains on November 15th, 16th and 17th. After a first successful trial hunt in November 2014, we are more than happy to return year after year!

On Thursday, November 14th we will be meeting at Munich Airport at the departure gate for the flight to Cluj or Timisoara. After landing, we will be picked up for the approx. 3-hour trip to the hunting area. A formal welcome ceremony will be held in the evening.

About three drives will be made on each of the following hunting days, with wild boar being our priority game type! Romania is renowned for its massive, mature male boar, with tuskers often 25 cm long and a body mass of up to 250 kg!

Participate in our 3-day driven hunt in Romania and experience awe-inspiring massive tuskers!

HISTORY

Since 1990, and after more than 20 years of rule under the only party permitted, the „Romanian Communist Party“, Romania has once again become a hunting destination. Before, the nation was ruled by Nicolae Ceaucescu, party leader, president, and chairman of the state and defense council. He was overthrown on December 22nd 1989, and the „National Salvation Front „ took over power. This collective movement also won the first free elections on May 20th 1990. With its new constitution, the Republic of Romania granted its citizens the freedom of religion, the press and of opinion. In the wake, the country also adopted a market-oriented economy. This development yielded new possibilities to hunters from around the world. Hunting was again possible after having been prohibited for 16 years. Some may still remember the advertising slogans of some hunting outfitters: „Everybody is talking about Romania – we do, too!“. Literature abounded with descriptions of massive boar, trophy-sized deer and enormous bears, praising Romania as the world's foremost hunting territory. Experiencing hunting as told in the story books has drawn many hunters to Romania - now and in the past. Maybe it's time for you to go on a trip of a lifetime to Romania!
